The Juan Peralta Ecology Award

Is your company doing enough?

There isn't a day goes by that we don't hear something about how man is destroying his own environment. We are, as a result, in danger of suffering from environmental information overload where the messages come in so thick and fast that we don't hear any of them.

But consider this. There have been many cases in history when the environment has flexed its muscles and required life to adjust to its demands; but there has never been a time when life has modified its environment. Never!

Juan Peralta was one of the founding fathers of PAIMA and an ecologist. Before the whole world (almost) jumped on the bandwagon and recognized that there might be a problem around the corner, Juan was already on it, steering the horses and banging the drum.

The PAIMA award that bears his name is a celebration of those organizations that do what they can, in fact more than anyone might expect, to protect the environment that has allowed mankind to thrive. We should all try our best. Is your company doing enough?

Let's be frank about it. We are not trying to save the planet. It's been here for 4.5 billion years and it isn't going anywhere soon. It's tough. But it's what we call a 'Goldilocks' planet: not too hot and not too cold, it's just right. The planet is tough, but the atmosphere is fragile. The world's governments are constantly talking about keeping the rise in the Earth's temperature down to 2°C. It doesn't sound like much does it? Who cares if it's a bit warmer? But 55 million years ago the mean temperature was just 5°C hotter than today and there were forests in Antarctica! When it comes to global warming, a little goes a long way.

And to those who say the warming is just part of the natural cycle: maybe you are right, but according to geologists the 5°C rise took around 20 million years to evolve; we've managed to get 40% of the way there in just a few generations. Maybe it's nothing to do with us, but it's a heck of a coincidence. Do you want to take the risk?

So that's why PAIMA has the Juan Peralta award. To qualify for consideration your company needs to do something that reduces your impact on the environment by reusing, recycling or reducing your consumption of precious resources. When you do, you should be proud of your efforts and let PAIMA know. You might be next year's winner.

But don't do it for the award. Don't do it for Juan. Do it because the Earth is our home, it's where we live and we should all play our part in taking care of it. Do it for your grandchildren.

Still, the trophy would look good on the shelf, wouldn't it?

Who was Juan Peralta?

Juan Peralta was a Cuban immigrant who started, like most people in Miami, with nothing.

He entered the moving business as a helper sweeping warehouse floors, worked for Withers, later worked for Latin American Express (Aida Rodi's father), then he went to Dean Van Lines visiting all of the Latin American agents before moving to Mayflower International where he became a vice president.

He was very well known in Latin America and had a keen interest in ecology and the recycling of natural resources.

PLEASE GO TO THE LINK BELOW OR CONTACT THE PAIMA OFFICE FOR A COPY OF THE APPLICATION FORM.

THINGS TO DO WHILE IN CHICAGO:

"THE HISTORIC CHICAGO WATER TOWER" (above)

Located at 806 North Michigan Avenue on "The Magnificent Mile" , you will find a historical landmark - "The Chicago Water Tower".

Built in 1869, it holds the title of the second-oldest water tower in the United States. The tower is built out of Lemont limestone and was the only public building to survive the "Great Chicago Fire" of 1871.

This is a site to see during your trip to Chicago later this year for our PAIMA convention.

The PAIMA office will provide monthly ideas of things to do while in Chicago so you can get the most out of your trip to the PAIMA & IAM Conventions.
